AN UPDATE REGARDING CORONAVIRUS
FROM NEWMARK MERRILL

April 24, 2020

Dear Tenant,

Congress has passed the fourth coronavirus relief bill, the $480 billion package contains $310 billion in additional funds for the Paycheck Protection Program. The program provides loans for businesses affected by coronavirus. The last round of funds for the program were quickly depleted, and with a sizable backlog of loan applications, experts predict this next injection of money could be used up in as few as 10 days. Now is the time to act!

If your bank was not successful in processing your loan in the first installment of PPP, please make sure to follow up and see where you are in the queue, make sure your information is complete and ready to go and confirm that your bank isn't waiting on something from you. Leaning on your bank to process you timely is key. Now is the time to act to protect your business and your employees and prepare as we move towards an expected gradual reopening of our communities, shopping centers, and stores in the near future.

If you are struggling with your bank, please reach out to us as we may be able to provide a referral to assist you with the loan processing. If you have questions on which loan is right for you or how to submit loan applications, NewMark Merrill Companies has retained a retail specialist consultant to provide information and resources to help our merchants.
